

The Creation Vibration

James Traverse

The Creation Combination as the Creation Power of Love Consciousness

The Creation Vibration

The Seven Principles of Love Consciousness

by James Traverse

Brought to you by: Rani

You now own limited redistribution rights to this ebook. It's yours free!

The profound truths it reveals are timeless and priceless, therefore you may not sell this for any price, yet you may freely share this with others provided that you do not modify its text and content in any manner or claim copyright to it.

The author, James Traverse, reserves all rights to the material ©2004

Attain Spiritual and Material Success with Certainty

The Creation Vibration is from Mind Power - The Way of Water. Mind Power - The Way of Water shows you HOW your conscious thoughts and subconscious beliefs-feelings couple with their Sexual Partner to form One Integrated Reality and WHY harmoniously aligning your energies with the Laws of Living UniVerse is the means whereby you Create the Life You Want with Certainty! In fact you give the UniVerse No Choice other than to Happily Give You What You Want! Click here for Details

Share This Selection with a Friend! It's an Act of Love!

Reality has Substance and Structure.

What You Get is What You See.

Your role as co-creator is to first understand that the substance and structure of matter is energy-in-information as described by modern quantum scientists. Your understanding of Truth is what governs your energies – and this understanding, whatever it is, is your belief. Your beliefs are energy-in-information that is in-formed by that which repetitively has had an emotional impact on you. In their turn your beliefs in-form energy into the formation of whatever you believe to be true. When you modify your beliefs whereby their emotional energies reach a critical mass you cause a chain reaction that changes your reality; modify them to be harmoniously aligned with the inherent structure of the Seven Principles of Truth-Love and your co-creation is effortless.

Satyam Shivam Sundaram

May your life be filled with:

- That which is True
- That which is Good
- That which is Beautiful

The Creation Vibration

The Seven Principles of Love Consciousness

- 1) Love has and is Being Being
- 2) Love has and is infinitely branching pairs of Intelligent Energy
- 3) Love has and is fourfold wave relationship
- 4) Love has and is sexual inter-course
- 5) Love has and is holographic replication
- 6) Love has and is standing wave reproduction
- 7) Love has and is Apperception
- 8) Love has and is Relaxation octaves of the seven principles together

Choose Wisely by Seeing Clearly just as a thing has, it is just as a thing is, it has
You Have the Power to Choose Once you choose – You have no choice

You are the Miracle of Life

Relationship is the Substance of Life. The Relationship of the Male and the Female Creates the Miracle of Life.

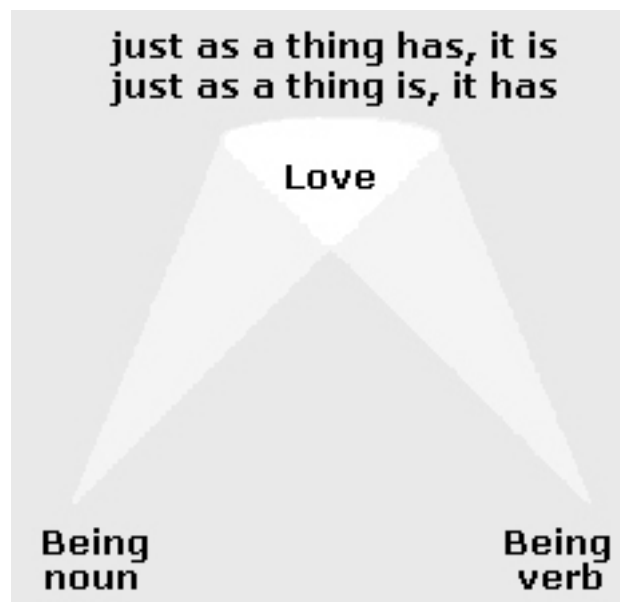

1) Love has and is Being Being

Love is the Eternal Beingness of the Infinite Being.
Love is the One Substance of every-thing and no-thing.

Love is more a current of action than an object yet to speak of it you objectify it by giving it a name. The process of objectification is the concretizing of Love as an entity. And, since all is Love, this is the action of Love such that the entity created, the creation, and, the creator is Love. In this manner Love simultaneously is Being that is Being.

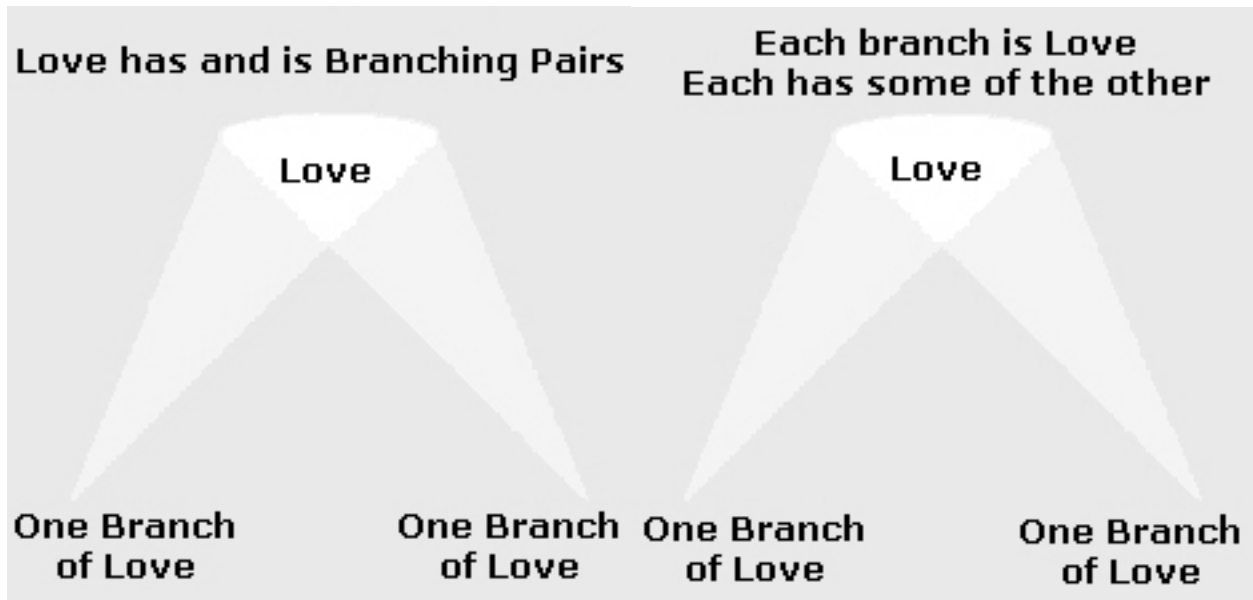

Speaking of Love is like speaking of Silence by saying that Silence is beyond words, where words are used to objectify Silence and to describe the action of being it as being silent. In the same manner the word being as it is used above is the pair language labels as:

noun and verb

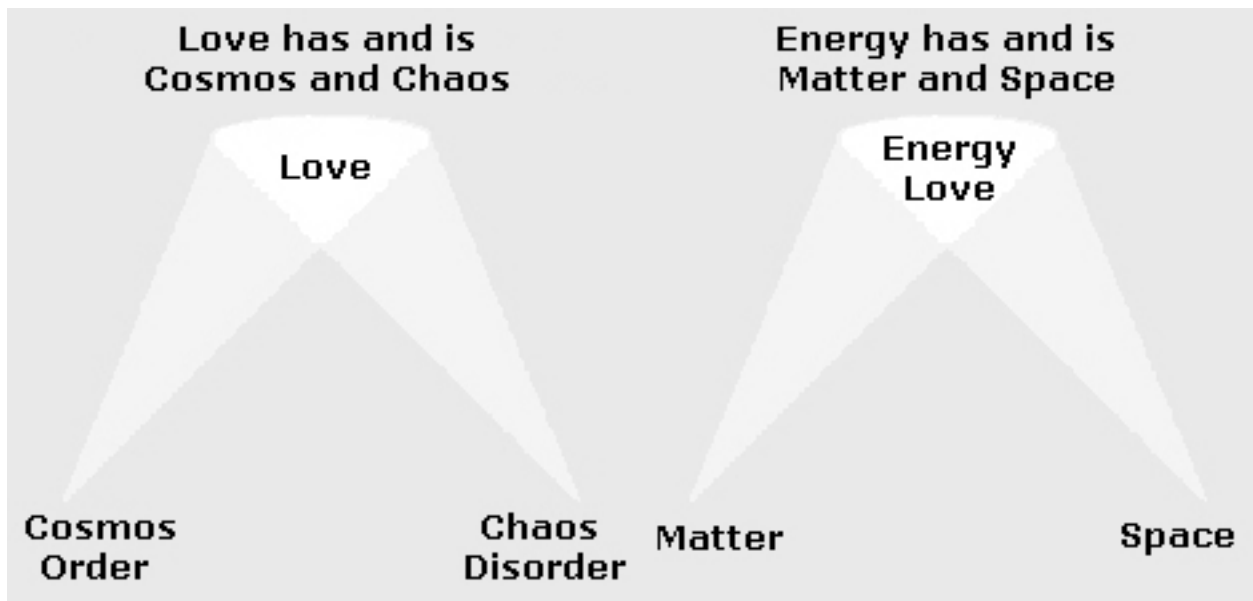

Being Being is an example of the essential attribute of Love that is described in principle #2. As you explore take note that the complimentary pairs are of two forms or a pair. One pair is the reverse or opposite of each other like order and disorder. The other pair is the inverse of the other; as all things are in Love and Love is in all things, as waves are in the ocean and the ocean is in the waves, as matter within space and space within matter, as order within disorder and disorder within order, and so on.

2) Love has and is Branching Pairs of Intelligent Energy

Love is all – all is Love. Matter is in-formed energy. Space is un-formed energy.
Love has a structure – it is infinitely branching pairs of intelligent energy.
Love is energy. Love has energy.

Cosmos means order. Chaos means disorder. Matter is ordered energy or structured energy. Space is energy that is not in a particular order. The formation of both matter and space is determined by the inter-relationship of these branches of energy.

Each has some of the other in it.

Scientists who study chaos say that on very very large scales even chaos has order. These scientists say that Chaos theory is really a science about finding organization in seemingly complex systems. It serves to find order in disorder.

It is self-evident that order has some disorder as death is seen in the fact that everything eventually breaks down through disease or disorder.

Love is Intelligent. Love has intelligence.

Intelligent means having intelligence. Intelligence means the capacity to acquire and apply knowledge and information. And the root meaning of intelligence is: intelligere to perceive: inter-, inter- + legere, to choose

Love is Intelligent Energy that is the One Substance of matter and space.

Love is the whole composed of the inter-relationship of energy and intelligence. The intelligence of Love is the awareness that without some way to appreciate itself Love has no meaning. Thus Love's intelligence expresses itself through and as infinitely branching pairs. And, Love's expression is energy.

Albert Einstein irrevocably proved that matter and energy are extreme forms of the same thing. He described their relationship with his famous equation $E = mc^2$ (note that the equals sign in equations literally means the same as).

Einstein's experiments and discoveries enlightened us to the extent that today you can perform some simple experiments to see for yourself that matter is simply energy entrapped in a certain formation – matter is structured energy.

- Note: The following is not a theory; it is a scientific law as the law of conservation of energy states that energy cannot be created or destroyed. While energy can be changed from one form into another form of energy, the total amount of energy in the universe remains constant. Scientists in all fields, including astronomy, biology, chemistry, physics, and Earth science use this law every day: The total amount of energy remains constant no matter what changes happen in any physical system.

Experiment 1) light a candle

- Note that as the matter of the candle burns it releases energy as heat and light (this process is supported by the oxygen of the earth's atmosphere). When the candle has completely burned you no longer have the particular matter called a candle because its energy has been released from that energy structure.

Experiment 2) plant an acorn seed in the ground; (plant the seed of an idea in your mind, or sprout some seeds)

- Note that the in-formation of the acorn's DNA will order the elements of the sun-fire, earth, air, and water into the structured energy formation called an oak tree.

Just as the DNA of the acorn in-forms energy into the structure called an oak tree your DNA orders energy into the orderly (intelligent) formation called you. Thus you, me, and everything else have and are the physical forms of energy that is the expression of Love. And since Love is also intelligent - you are intelligent and you have intelligence.

Every invention starts out as an idea in someone's mind. Every innovation and creation is based on someone's vision. Thus the profound meaning of intelligence is: to perceive. In principle #7 you will see that awareness is the instrument that facilitates the change of energy from one form into another form of energy.

Love is space and Love has matter. Love is matter and Love has space.

In the same manner that the substance of wave and ocean is water such that water expresses itself as wave-centre and ocean-extreme - the substance of Love is intelligent energy that expresses itself as matter-centre and space-openness.

The materialization of energy is the process of wave coherence where the interference of the extremes of a self-referring wave harmoniously interferes with itself to form that which appears to be solid, concretized energy (the solidity is a delusion of sensing - like watching the still pictures of a movie film presented so quickly that they appear as movement – moving pictures). When matter is viewed under higher and higher levels of magnification, it is clear that what is called matter and space is only differentiated by the fact that energy is either in-formed as matter or un-formed as space such that the difference is order and the absence of order – they are the same substance.

What is called matter is sustained as matter for as long as the energy flow that is its essence is maintained. In other words the wave coherence will eventually break down as the energy that sustains the matter is released into what is called space. The rate of this deterioration is dependent on how alive the matter is – its rate of vibration and harmonization with the vibration of Intelligent Energy - Love. Vibrant matter is full of life such that the waveflow of energy is unrestricted. If/when the waveflow is restricted or interrupted through some intervention (like excess stress, a disease, or a car accident that kills a person) then there is what is called disorder or death. Thus death is seen as the release of energy entrapped in a certain formation and there is never a time when energy is not energy. And, a person or thing that is fully alive is one that is in Love - one that is no longer alive is still in Love yet the energy expression is un-formed.

You have been educated to believe that all things came from somewhere like a Big Bang that was the original cause, or that some Infinite-Eternal Being called God created things, and to ask questions like, 'Scientists say that the universe is all there is and that it is expanding – if the universe is all there is, then what is it expanding into?'

When this is seen in the light of intelligent perceiving, it is obvious that nothing is separate. There is no separate entity called God or creator other than Love, and the Big Bang is simply the orderly inter-relationship of extremes that forms what is called the universe (prior to this the order was present as the extreme called pure potential). The universe is not expanding-contracting into anything other than Love because the universe itself is the expanding-contracting formation created through the inter-relationship of the extremes of Love. The Uni-Verse is Love's breathing current.

Love is the intelligent energy of form-cosmos and emptiness-chaos. Space is un-formed-energy and matter is energy-in-formation. Matter and space exist simultaneously – both are energy. Just as a line or border that appears to separate and divide things is also that which the things have in common (it joins them), space that is said to separate things is also the energy link between them.

Together, the inter-relationship of extremes is the OneSubstance. One extreme is the infinite. This is the realm of pure spirit that is the ubiquitous field of infinite possibilities – just as the ocean is to a wave, the energy extreme of pure spirit surrounds and supports all that manifests. Another name for the field of pure spirit is chaos where Infinite Intelligent Energy is pure potential and not in the orderly, cosmic formation called matter. The other extreme is the definite. The definite is structured energy, ordered energy, or energy-in-formation.

The inter-dependent extremes of Love exist simultaneously. They appear as separate when attention is focused on one or the other. When attention is relaxed there is no separation or non-separation because without the focused awareness of attention there is no labeling as separate or non-separate – there is simply being.

The inter-relationship of extremes is the living process that creates all that is seen, and the extreme relationship that can be called the absence of relationship is the unseen (note that labeling this as absence or unseen is your awareness relationship with it that gives it meaning) – the branching pairs have many labels like manifest and not manifest, being and non-being, higher self and lower self, pairs of opposites, duality, etc., that appear as separate when awareness is focused on one branch or the other, yet ultimate reality is that they are the NumberlessOne as Love's Intelligent Energy.

The relationship of cosmos-order and chaos-disorder is the energy relationship that is the OneSubstance of matter and space, nature and spirit.

Form is Being and Being has Awareness

The fact that you are being and that you have awareness is self-evident. And as stated earlier you are energy that is in-formed by your DNA (information or data). Thus intelligence, which means to perceive or to be aware, is the awareness that Love has and is infinitely branching pairs of Intelligent Energy.

All other principles relate to this principle because Love is the OneSubstance of everything and no-thing. Love is present in each of the seven principles and it also links them as the next higher or lower principle to form octaves (like the octaves in music that repeats the note 'do' as the link between the next higher or lower octave).

One branches as two and those branches branch. Its extremes appear as separate when attention is focused on one extreme or the other. This branching is Love that has and is infinitely branching pairs. Thus the observation of each extreme of a branch of Intelligent Energy reveals that each extreme also has and is branching pairs because each is Love, and each has and is this essential attribute.

The wisdom traditions of all of humanity speak of an original ancient couple as Adam-Eve, Shiva-Shakti, Yin-Yang, Male-Female, etc.; modern science speaks of couples of subatomic particles, cooper pairs, quantum theory and relativity, etc. And although there is much speculation about ultimate singularities as what scientists call the Big Bang or the current quest for a Theory of Everything, the most brilliant minds of ancient and modern times have never been able to conclusively prove that there is such a singularity as these – they are theories.

Yet when this enormous body of evidence for twos is seen as it is, then the resolution of attempting to reduce the twos into some ultimate singularity is seen as unnecessary because it reveals that infinitely branching as pairs is simply the spirit-nature of the ultimate singularity that already is – Love.

In other words a couple is seen as being composed of separate parts when viewed through the lens of the reductionist mindset that is questing to discover an ultimate singularity by observing smaller and smaller fragments. And although such a mind may be brilliant its myopic view fails to see the elusive obvious fact that all couples are singularly whole as a couple.

Oneness has no opposite and yet all opposites are One.

Thus twoness is the essential spirit-nature of Oneness and yet the presence of Oneness can only be perceived through the absence of the reductionist mindset that is attempting to see Oneness – this simply means that the conscious mind relaxes such that its absolute silence is the environment of absolute presence. And this absence and presence is yet another example of the essential spirit-nature of Love. Love is the ultimate singularity that has and is infinitely branching pairs of Intelligent Energy.

The Omkar to the left is believed to be the first ever drawing of Om.

It reveals that ancient sages clearly understood the essential branching spirit-nature of Love that is currently whole as the present branch, and simultaneously whole as the infinite-eternal current of eternal-infinite branching.

In other words Love is absolute as the current unfolding called now rather than an unfolding that is coming out of something other.

Thus Love has and is the essential attribute of branching as pairs that is simultaneously the eternal stillness called now and the infinite movement of its unfolding.

Note: 1) the branching, and 2) the river like current depicted at the bottom of the Omkar.

Modern DNA scientists have meticulously documented this same branching as the process of DNA branching and replication. These scientists call DNA the molecule of Life.

DNA has and is this branching. In other words the process of DNA replication is not just that it branches, it also recombines as the inter-course relationship of its opposing strands and base pairs to create the new-now. Thus DNA has and is Life as it simultaneously is the living process of the branching-replicating-recombining current of Life, and it is current Life.

Other medical scientists have extensively documented the process of human reproduction such that you clearly understand how new life is created as complimentary opposites of the same species contribute genetic information through their inter-course.

In the same manner Love has and is the infinite branching of complimentary pairs. Love is the living process of creation that is the current replication as the inter-course relationship of the current pair of Intelligent Energy, and it is simultaneously infiniteeternal creation as the process of infinite-eternal reproduction through the inter-course relationship of current replicas of Love.

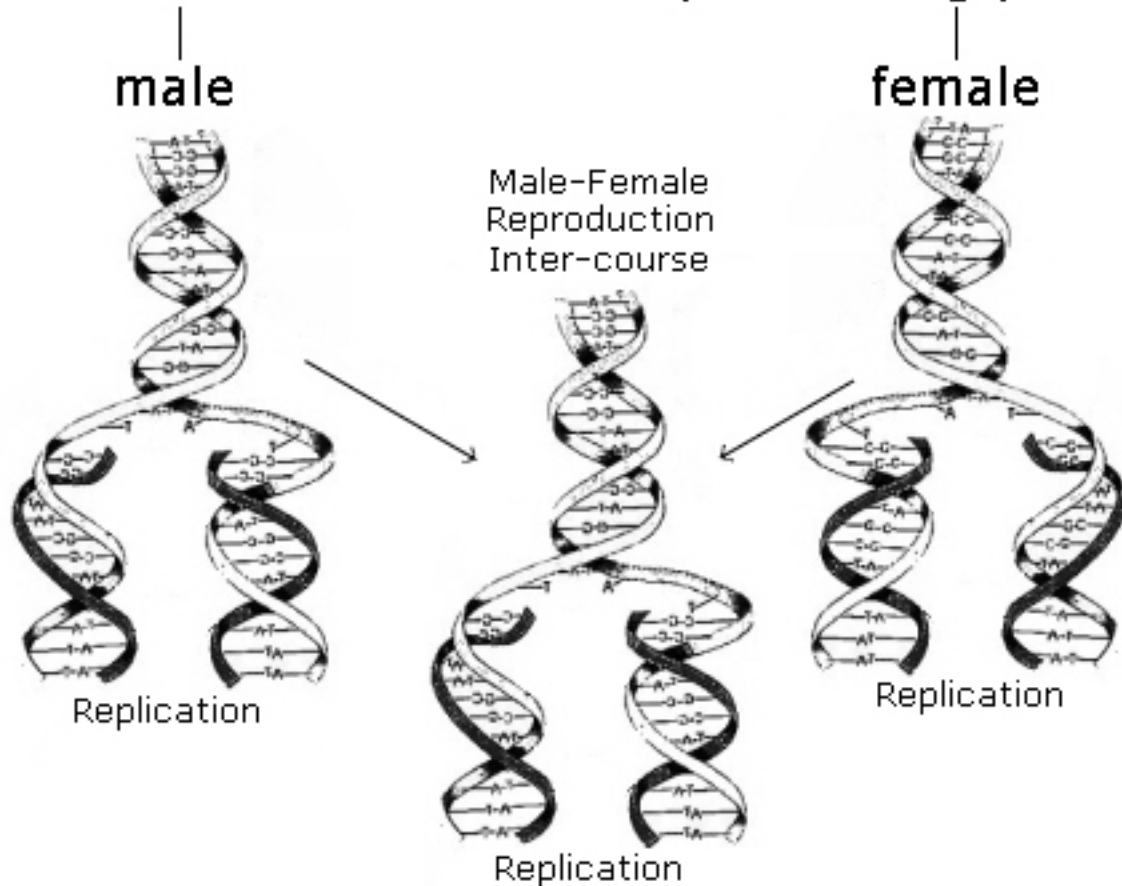

Love has and is replication and reproduction.

It is highly significant to see that the living processes of replication and reproduction are also the models of Life that reveal the Miracle of Life.

The Relationship Mirror of Love

Love is the Substance of Relationship.
Relationship is the Substance of Love.

Love has and is infinitely branching pairs

Love has and is replication and reproduction

Love's infinitely branching pairs of Intelligent Energy have the spirit-nature of Love, and since they are Love, they reveal the spirit-nature of Love.

Everything in the uni-verse has two recursive, self-similar attributes, spirit and nature, the male and the female, centre and openness, cosmos and chaos, the simple and the complex. These are the interdependent extremes of One integrated reality. Each gives meaning to the other, and each has some of the other in it. Together, their coherent living relationship is the OneSubstance of everything.

Love has and is Intelligent Energy that branches as the branching pair called matter-centre and space-openness that also has and is branching. When this pair is explored in the pair of directions called smaller and larger with still another pair of opposites called microscopes and telescopes, it is clear that in both directions they are each composed of pairs of opposites until the exploration reaches the level of the infinitely small and infinitely large where current instrumentation is unable to determine their structure. Yet it is self-evident that the extremes of infinitely small and infinitely large are consistent with the fact that Love branches as pairs because they are a pair.

This exploration again demonstrates the tremendous significance of understanding that intelligence means: to perceive or to be aware. The significance of this profound truth cannot be overstated because form is being and being has awareness (as illustrated earlier).

Perceiving that Love has and is OneSubstance as the branching pair called every-thing and no-thing, that also has and is branching, is the resolution to the 'One and the Many' (duality) paradox of many wisdom traditions. It reveals that Love's Intelligent Energy branching as pairs of opposites is seen as the essential attribute of the NumberlessOne, thus the paradox is resolved because the apperception of this also accounts for the pair of opposites called singularity and multiplicity. And further perceiving that this branching as pairs where each extreme has and is branching, is the intelligence that gives meaning to Oneness.

An obvious example of branching pairs is your relationship with yourself as mind and body, thinking and feeling, waking and sleeping, hungry and full, inhalation and exhalation, conscious mind and subconscious mind, etc. – you are a living process.

You are unthinkable.

You can never fully know what you are; you can only know that you are.

Since there is nothing other than Love you can never fully know what you are because you are Love and as such you are being and you have awareness. Thus you can never separate yourself from the being and awareness that you have and are because you are it – you are living it. Yet you can self-actualize by relaxing all attempts to know yourself and simply allow yourself to be what you already are.

Love is no-thing and every-thing. As you are reading this you are Love relating to itself like looking in a mirror. The mirror is living relationship. The inter-course of the living extremes of relationship create the timeless experience called now that is definite as the current moment, and it is an infinite branching current that unfolds as Love's infinite branches branch.

Separately each extreme of Love's branching is equally real and unreal because each is Love and each has and is the inherent attribute of branching as pairs of Intelligent Energy that Love has and is. Together their inter-relationship is the Infinite-Eternal Being of Love that is the whole that includes and transcends its parts. The Infinite-Eternal Being of Love has and is the essential spirit-nature attribute of definitely and infinitely branching as pairs. Love is the OneSubstance that is simultaneously its absolute presence and its absolute absence.

The apperception of this is such that there is no longer any attempt to achieve a state of Oneness because what is seen is that the Substance of Oneness is Relationship that is the mirror of itself. Thus Love is the Substance of Relationship and Relationship is the Substance of Love.

Omnipresent examples of this branching structure:

The human body has a central trunk with branching branches; it branches down as tailbone, legs, feet, and toes; it branches up and out as spinal column, ribs, arms, hands, fingers; its nervous, circulatory, respiratory, its systems, etc. each have the same branching structure; human beings branch as female and male, the human organism's breathing branches, it has branching cellular activity, and its birth and death are still other examples of living branching structure.

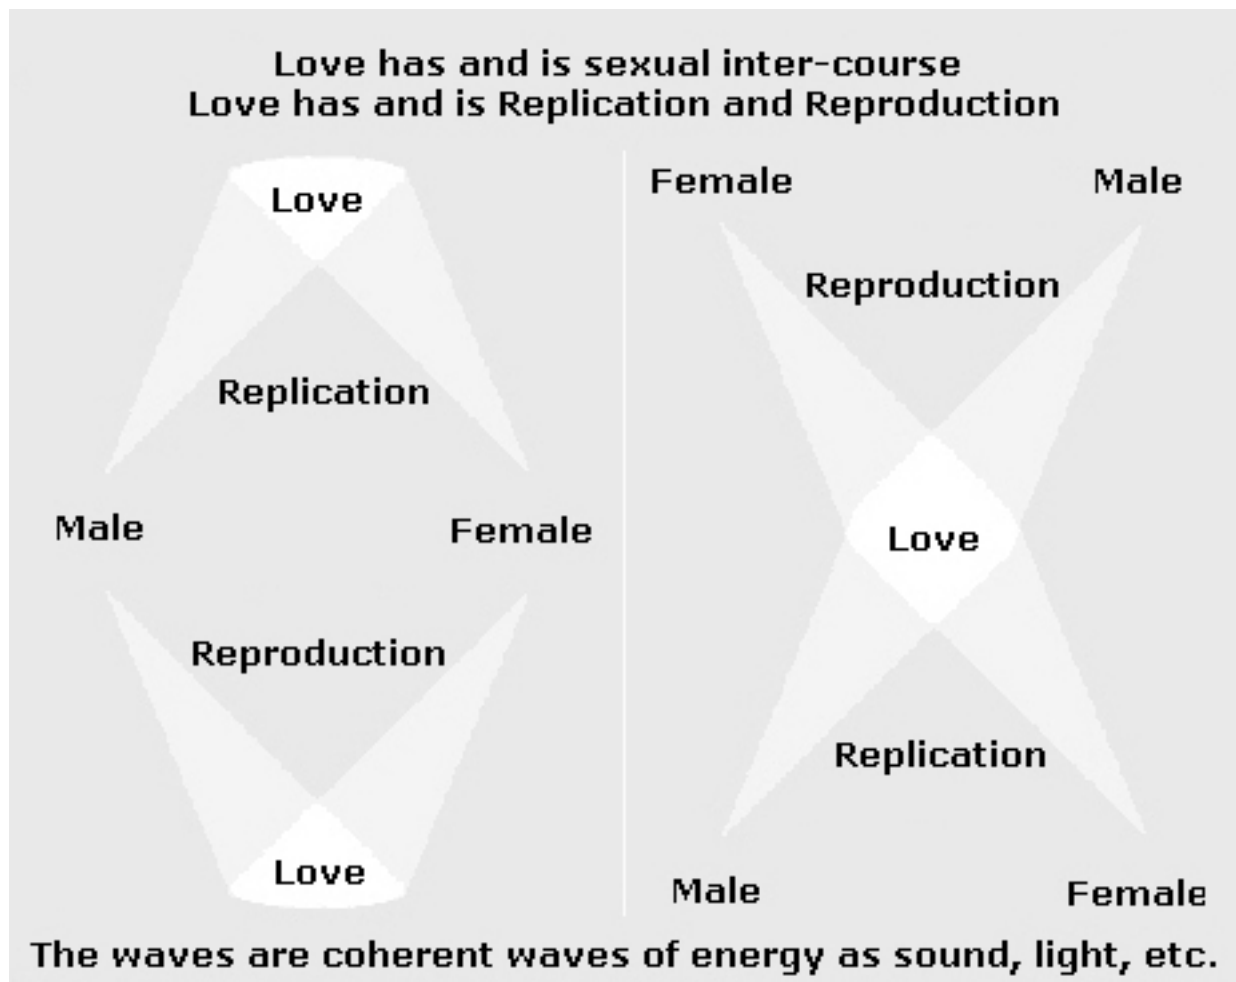

The branching of trees, flowers, leaves, rivers, streams, rivers of lava, veins of ore, branches of families, businesses, branches of science-art, time, spiral branching arms of galaxies-hurricanes-tornadoes, the binary structure of information technology and the Internet, etc., are examples of the branching structure.

And perhaps the most obvious and most significant example of this branching structure is the structure of the pure energy of lightening or arcing electricity.

3) Love has and is fourfold wave relationship

The inter-dependent extremes of a branch of Love exist simultaneously. Each gives meaning to the other. Each is complete as Love as each has and is infinitely branching pairs of Intelligent Energy. And as Love each has and is the particular branching pair of replication and reproduction. Each is a replica of Love, and each has the ability to reproduce and create that Love has and is.

The process of replication and reproduction is fourfold.

The illustrations above depict the fact that the processes of replication and reproduction have the same structure. The difference is that replication is a duplication process that creates replicas of that which already exists and reproduction creates that which is new.

For example in human beings replication uses DNA in-formation from the same source and reproduction uses DNA in-formation from two different sources.

The substance of the living processes of Replication and Reproduction is Relationship. And since all is Love it is a self-referring living (branching) relationship that has and is the essential attribute of Love, which is infinitely branching pairs of Intelligent Energy.

These generations of infinitely branching pairs of pairs of Intelligent Energy are complimentary pairs that are the reverse of each other and the inverse of each other.

The current generation may be listed as: Male and Matter and Female and Space that has fourfold relationship possibilities as:

1. One extreme may be current
2. The extremes may be in equilibrium - centre
3. The other extreme may be current
4. The extremes may be in chaos - openness

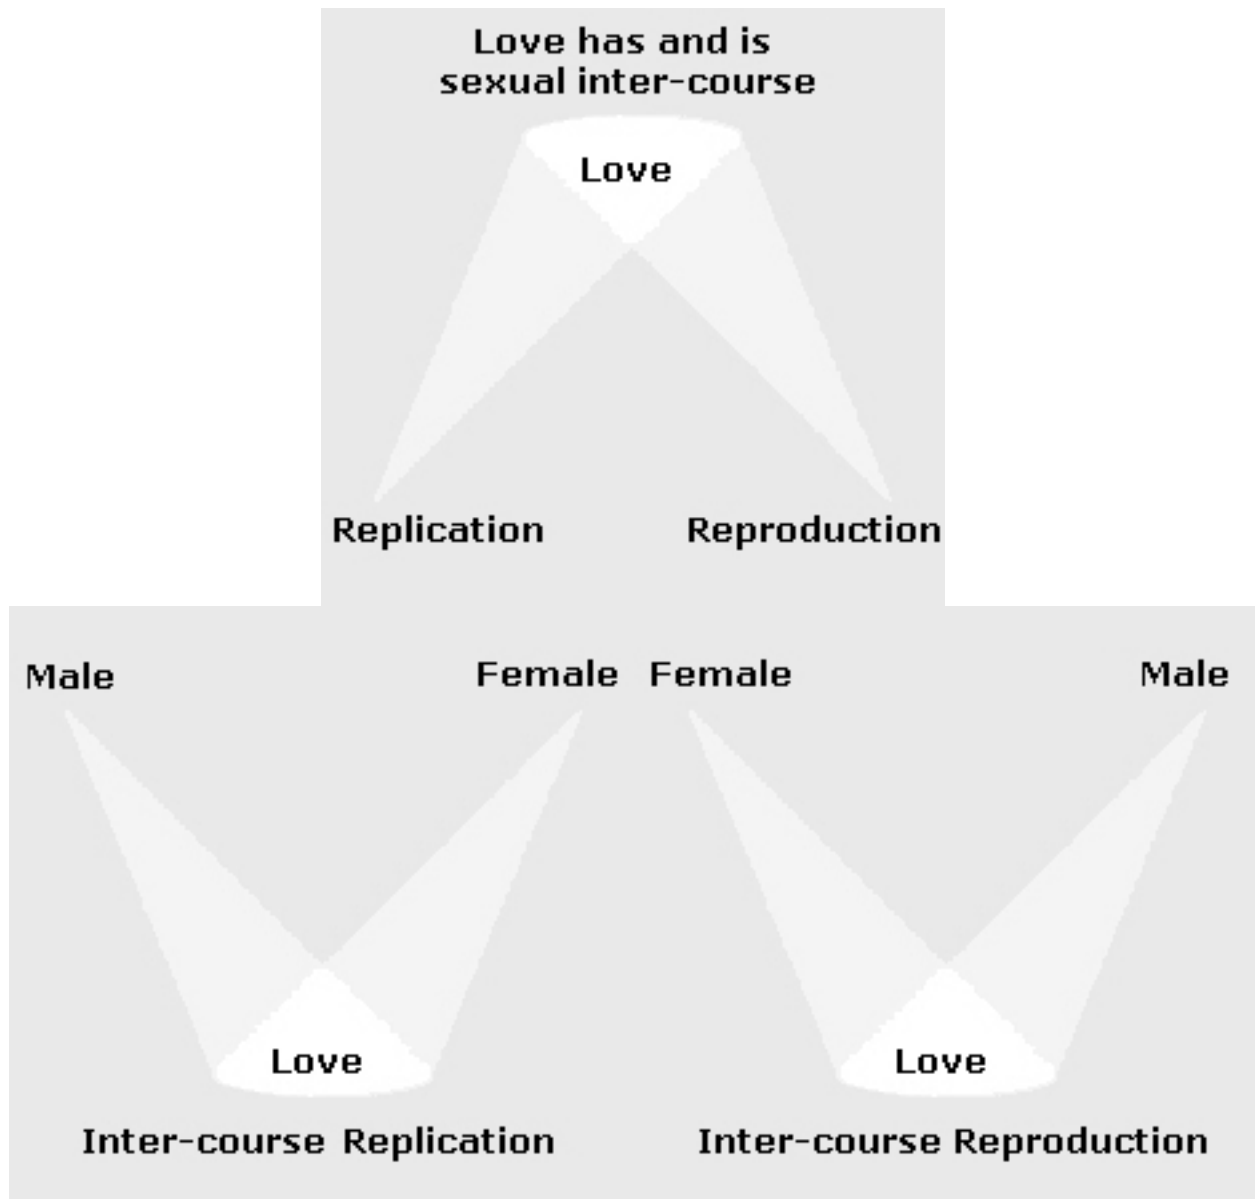

The living structure of these two twos relationship possibilities is a fourfold wave process. Some obvious examples of these are:

- Human Breathing that is the relationship of respiration and circulation where respiration is a fourfold wave as: inspiration, pause, expiration, pause and circulation is a fourfold wave as: heart-pump, pause, heart-pump, pause.
- Medical scientists have clearly documented four categories of human brain waves that they list as: alpha, beta, delta, and theta waves.
- The relationship of electricity and magnetism with their positive-negative poles and north-south poles to form the electromagnetic current that is the substance of all in-formation technology.
- The wave cycle of the four parts of daytime, twilight, night, and dawn that reflect the four seasons of a year and the two high and two low tides that occur each day. These smaller cycles reflect the larger wave cycles and spirals of the earth's rotation on its axis, its orbit around the sun that simultaneously is rotating and orbiting the centre of our Milky Way Galaxy that has two spiral arms and is cycling within the uni-verse.
- Fourfold beats and rhythms in music and dance. Four singing voices, quatrains of poetry and sacred scriptures, four forces of physics, addition-subtraction-multiplication-division, the four elements of nature: earth, air, water and fire, and quatrains of language like this-that-these-those to describe all these fours.
- Waves.

The infinitely branching-branching pair of Love is motion (energy in motion, e-motion, emotion). Motion is the manner in which Love moves, and since it is the branching of Love, motion has the essential spirit-nature attribute of Love.

The primary branching pair of motion is movement and stillness. As stated above this is clearly seen in respiration's movement as inspiration and expiration and its stillness-pauses. It also reveals the self-referring spirit-nature of the wave motion, and how the complimentary extremes of Intelligent Energy are the reverse of each other.

4) Love has and is sexual inter-course

Your life has and is the inter-course Living Relationship of your body-mind.

This principle follows from ones that have already been stated. Note that this is the central principle of the group of seven and also that sexual is the central attribute of Love. In most of life Love branches through the reproduction and evolution of the species and in human beings sexual relationship is much more complex.

The word sexual as it is used here means sexual in the comprehensive sense of the word as the substance of every-thing and no-thing is the sexual inter-course of Love's replication and reproduction.

You, the six billion people of the planet, every being that has ever lived, every plant, every animal, every invention, etc. – everything that is, has been, and everything that ever will be is the Sexual Living Relationship of extremes (inter-acting branches).

This intercourse is obvious in the process of human, plant, and animal reproduction. It is clear in DNA replication as the four base pairs couple in pairs of two, and each one only with its mate to form the rungs of the double helix ladder of DNA molecule of Life. It is seen in all of chemistry as atoms mate with each other to form compounds; it is seen in physics which literally is defined as the science of matter and energy and of interactions between the two; it is seen in the coupling of the positive and the negative to form electricity; it is seen in north and south poles to form magnetism, and, the coupling of electricity and magnetism to form electromagnetism; it is seen in the binary zeros and ones of all in-formation technology like computers and the inter-net; it is seen in all things that are composed of weaving, braiding, or combining opposing strands together to create something new; it is also seen in the formation of hurricanes, tornados, and on grander scales in the coupling of spiral arms of galaxies like our Milky Way.

This is the substance and structure of what is happening right now as you are reading this. Without you as seeing-perceiving how could any of this be? The inter-course of the white and black colours of this page, the inter-course of the words and what they mean to you, and the inter-course of objects, movements, and sounds with their respective backgrounds, and so on; each is the sexual inter-course of the male and the female that together is the living child of whatever is experienced – now.

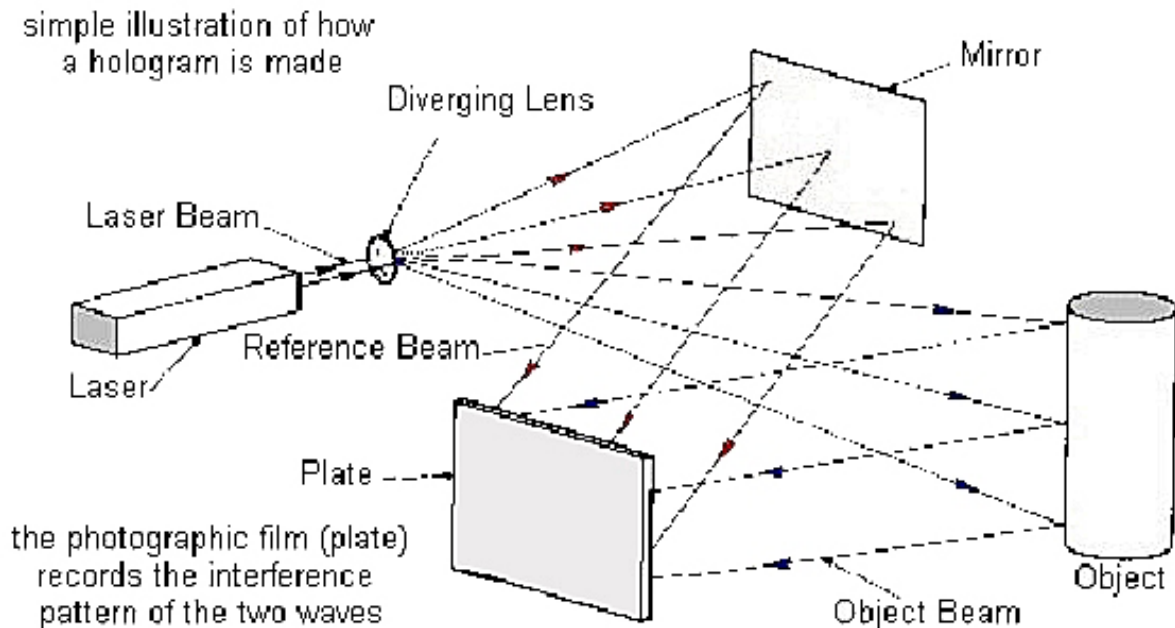

Thus sexual is the central attribute of the living Relationship of complimentary extremes of each branch of Love that creates, sustains, and is the child that is new-now. And like Love and couples, Seeing is the whole that includes and transcends its parts.

You simultaneously live in an inner and outer world.

The OneSubstance of the NumberlessOne is the Living Relationship.

Love has and is sexual inter-course. Love's sexual wave structure is like a socket and plug. It is simultaneously current as the current moment and it is the unfolding current of its Being. The formation and flow of this current is the marriage of the female and the male extremes that is the Miracle of Oneness.

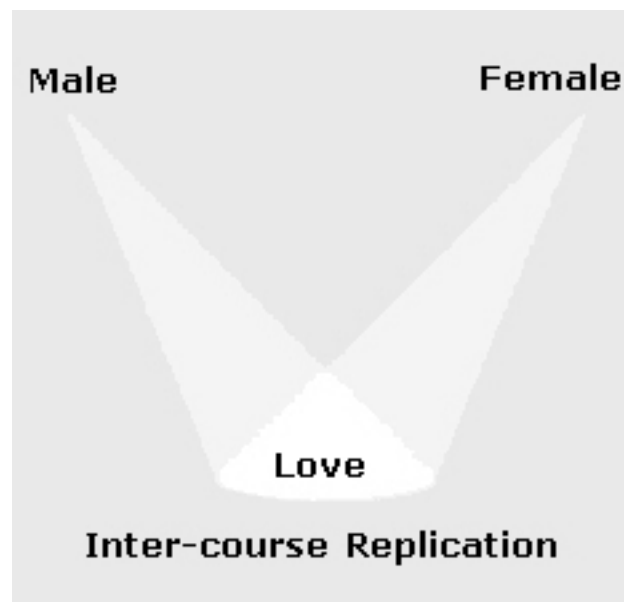

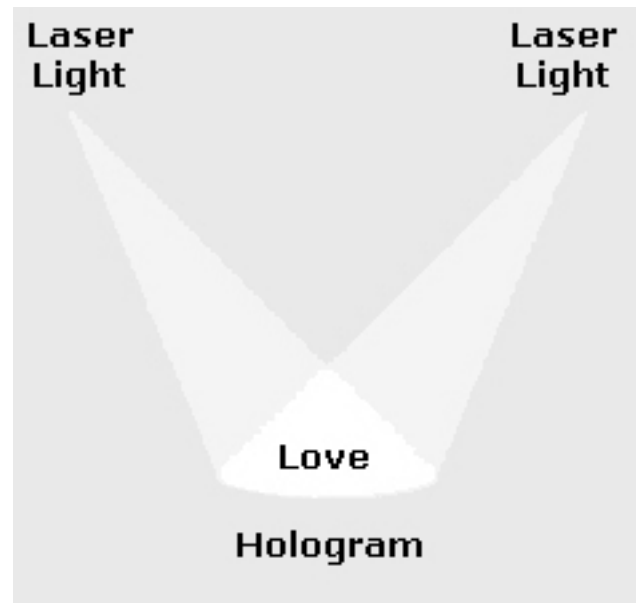

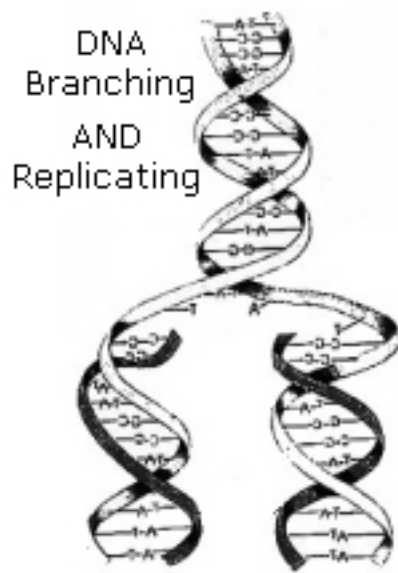

5) Love has and is holographic replication

Hologram:

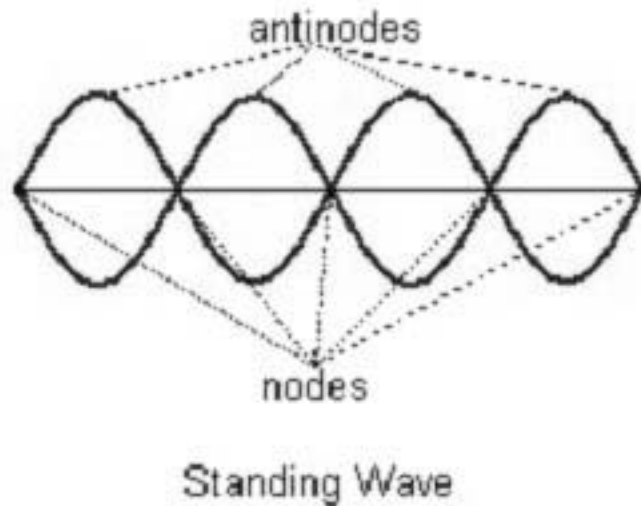

A hologram is an inter-dimensional photograph made with the aid of a laser. To make a hologram, the object to be photographed is first bathed in the light of a laser beam. Then a second laser beam (or the one is split) is bounced off the reflected light of the first and the resulting interference pattern, the relationship inter-course, (the area where the two laser beams commingle) is captured on film. Note that a laser beam is necessary to create a hologram because the laser's light is coherent light.

The hologram demonstrates that when you attempt to take apart and examine something that has a holographic structure, you discover smaller and larger wholes of the same thing that differ only in size. Every piece of a hologram, however small, is an exact replica of the whole, and like the human DNA molecule it can be used to reconstruct the whole.

Other examples of this holographic replication are time where a second is embedded in all other measures of time such that all of time can be represented as some value of seconds. And waves and holes as there cannot be half of a wave or a hole, there can only be smaller and larger waves and holes.

6) Love has and is standing wave reproduction

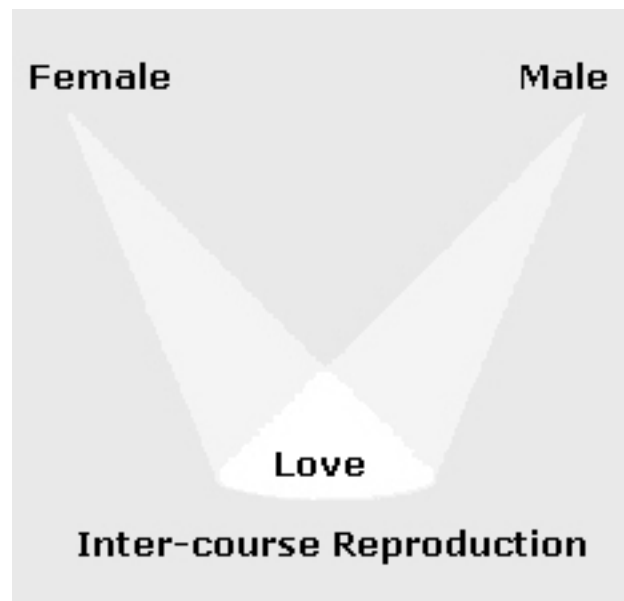

Standing Wave:

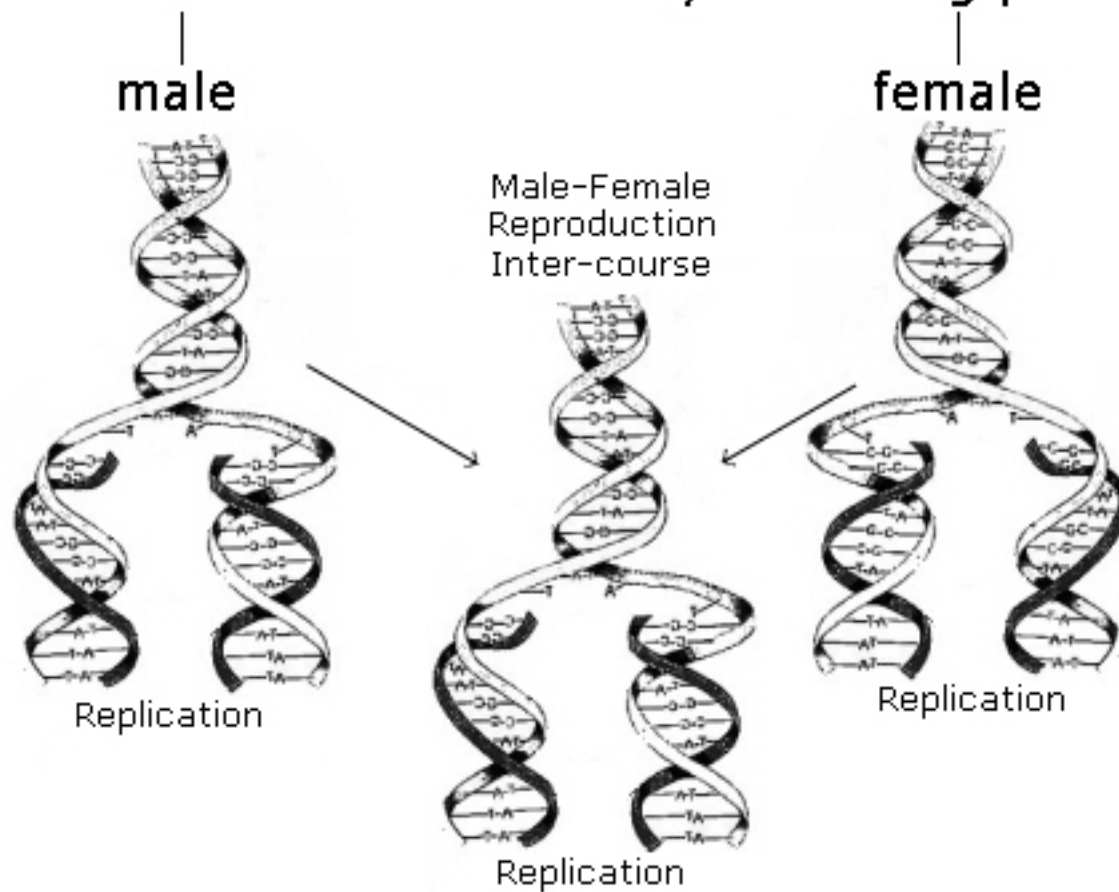

Standing waves are produced whenever two waves of identical frequency interfere with one another while traveling in opposite directions along the same medium.

When two light waves pass through each other each wave acts like a bump to the other. And the result is like rapids of light. The standing wave patterns are stationary even though the light wave's energy continues to move. When waves meet they perform addition and subtraction.

When two waves of equal size meet at their high points (called crests), they add together to make a wave twice as high at that point. Conversely, where two waves of equal size meet at their low points (call troughs) they add together to become twice as low. And when one wave at its high point meets another wave at its low point they subtract and cancel out. And yet it isn't really cancelled out in the sense of being destroyed. It is more a case of there being no light at that spot. When you follow the wave path down to where it meets the other wave at a different point in the relationship, it is once again visible. It is a situation of infinite possibilities. Just like the patterns possible as the waves of two pebbles meet in a pond. At any point you may notice that the standing wave pattern has produced a place where the waves have added together to get higher or subtracted to become lower or even just gone flat. There are terms that are used to describe the possible encounters. When the waves add together and get higher it is called constructive interference and when the waves subtract or cancel altogether it is called destructive interference.

Love has and is infinitely branching pairs

Love has and is replication and reproduction

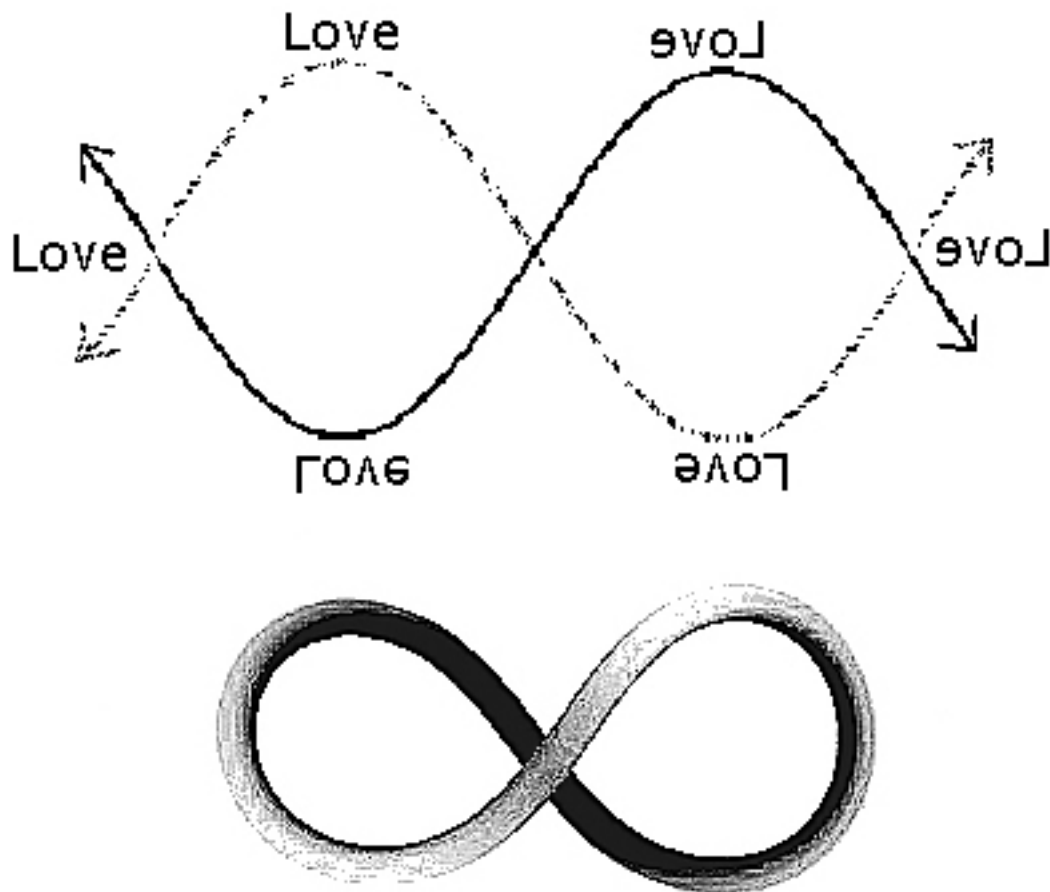

The differentiation between holograms and standing waves is that holograms are created by two waves that refer to the same thing, and standing waves are created by two waves of two complimentary things. Thus holograms are a replication process and standing waves are a reproduction process.

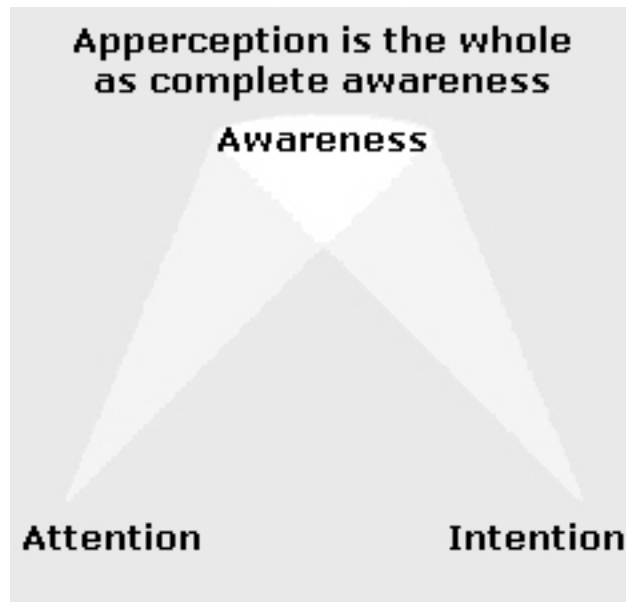

The symbols above clearly illustrate that ancient sages understood the inter-course relationship of things. At the top left is the Sri Yantra; the image to its right illustrates its inter-woven triangles. The images directly above are versions of the Star of David.

Principles #3, #5, and #6 each depict the wave structure of Love and together with principle #4 they reveal that the inter-course of the infinitely branching pairs of Love are waves of sexual replication and reproduction.

Some examples of standing waves are the creation process of human reproduction, the waves produced in musical wind instruments, singing, trees (note that trees branch down as roots and up as trunk and branches, and that trees reproduce sexually through the male-female inter-course of flowers, fruits, and seeds), the science of Tantra Yoga that literally means cosmic weave, and the infinity symbol.

7) Love has and is Apperception

Apperception is the complete awareness that is the inter-course inter-relationship of Love's branch called attention and intention. It rests in its transcendental homeground of Love as opposed to identifying itself as either the localized observer (the ego) or the observed, which are the fragments that make it up.

Apperception:

1. Conscious perception with full awareness.
2. The process of understanding by which newly observed qualities of an object are related to past experience.
 - Apperception is the mind's perception of itself as the subject or actor in its own states; perception that reflects upon itself; sometimes, intensified or energetic perception.

Awareness is self-evident yet you are not always consciously aware.

The replication process of awareness is seen that when attention is always qualitatively the same, you will always summon the same quality of in-formation (data). In other words this proves the cliché of: “Do what you have always done and you’ll get what you have always gotten.” And the following famous quotes highlight the necessity of full awareness:

“What is necessary to change a person is to change his awareness of himself.”

~ Abraham H. Maslow

“To exist is to change, to change is to mature, to mature is to go on creating oneself endlessly.”

~ Henri Louis Bergson

“If you do not change direction, you may end up where you are heading.”

~ Lao Tzu

“Change alone is unchanging”.

~ Heraclitus

Attention is how you do what you do. Attention is the replication process of awareness that is helpful for duplicating steps that are beneficial to your life’s journey, and yet by itself it is only one extreme of awareness. Thus awareness itself reveals that Love is more than simply replicating a series of steps. In this light you embrace the creation of that which is new through the reproduction process of awareness called intention.

Intention is why you do what you do. For example when you have a goal of creating something new - you align with the seven principles listed here and order energy into the particular formation of whatever it is that you have envisioned. And since this process requires energy it is essential that you choose a goal that you are passionate about because that is the only means that will provide the source energy that you will in-form to create the result that you want to achieve.

This brings us to yet another cliché: “The road to hell is paved with good intentions.”

Once again awareness reveals that intention is only one extreme of awareness and the fact that Love is more than simply the process of reproduction. Thus awareness, like Love, has and is branching pairs that together are the whole that is greater than the sum of its parts.

Apperception is complete awareness that branches as Attention and Intention.
Apperception is the awareness that facilitates harmonious change.

The awareness of attention is how you do what you do.
The awareness of intention is why you do what you do.

The journey is the means and the end.

Intention is the process of setting a goal that you are passionate about.
Attention is the current step that you take to achieve your goal.

The whole includes and transcends its parts.

Apperception is the complete awareness that is the whole that is greater than the sum of its parts, and awareness is the instrument that facilitates harmonious change.

In this light it is clear that this applies to each extreme of each branch of each of the seven principles of Love. This means that the journey of your exploration of each of these seven principles is the journey within the journey, of exploring each extreme of each branch of Love through the replication process of attention. These journeys have the destination of your intention, which here is to create full awareness of the spirit and nature of Love. And you see that together attention and intention is the awareness of the journey within the journey such that the journey is the means and the end.

Awareness is the instrument that facilitates the change of energy from one form into another form of energy because energy follows your awareness. Thus you order energy with your attention and intention (as you have been doing all of your life). And as explained in principle #2 things are composed of energy and information, or energy-in-formation, the information that you provide through your awareness is what commands energy to be ordered in the particular formation that you hold in your awareness.

The Relaxation of a Silent mind is the ultimate means for achieving your goals.

Relationship: The pair of your brain and your mind has and are the branches depicted in the illustrations above. The fourfold current of the relationship of the extremes of each branch is such that one extreme or the other may be prevailing, they may be in equilibrium, or they may be in chaos.

Your brain-mind's verbal left hemisphere and visual right hemisphere are together in what scientists call the your emotional mid-brain. The fourth area of your brain-mind is called the reptilian brain or the brain stem that functions as part of your natural survival mechanism (self-preservation like reacting to the danger signal of a loud noise).

The relationship of these extremes is like the relationship of a wave and the ocean such that the wave is in the ocean and the ocean is in the wave, and, the substance of both is water. In this case the software of the brain and the mind is thinking-feeling and feeling-thinking. Examples of this are easily recognized as the intellectual masculine thinking-feeling of the left hemisphere of your brain; the intuitive female feeling-thinking of the right hemisphere of your brain; the conventional thinking of your conscious mind; the insight, intuition, feeling, or dreaming of your subconscious mind; and the confusion or Silence that is possible with either or both your brain and your mind.

Please try the following Experiment:
Allow your conscious mind to fall Silent and note:

- You haven't lost your mind – it is simply Silent.
- You maintain consciousness, yet it is a consciousness that is of your other-than-conscious mind (I call this your subconscious mind).
- At some point your conscious mind will become active again.

Each of the possibilities in the experiment above play out in the journey of your life and yet experience reveals that the Silence of your conscious mind is the environment where your awareness is optimized (consciousness expands), and that intelligent actions comes from this clarity in seeing. Thus it is wise to embrace each challenge and opportunity of your life with a Silent mind such that you see clearly - then intelligent, harmonious action unfolds naturally.

The apperception of these profound truths facilitates the relaxation of your brain and conscious mind such that they fall Silent, and, awareness is naturally expanded to global awareness where you effortlessly see the structure and steps required to harmoniously achieve whatever you have envisioned.

In a certain way it can be said that the ultimate reason for embracing the journey of being fully conscious of the spirit and nature (structure and way) of Love is to be able to forget about it. Yet this forgetting is not a defeat, rather it is the victory of enlightenment that occurs when the burden of wanting to know what life is really all about falls away. Simultaneously, there is the discovery that the energy that was expended in struggling with life, and endlessly seeking answers is now available to be consciously in-formed and aligned with these seven principles of Love to create whatever you choose. Thus there is a returning to childlike innocence with the wisdom and maturity of adult experience, or as T.S. Eliot says:

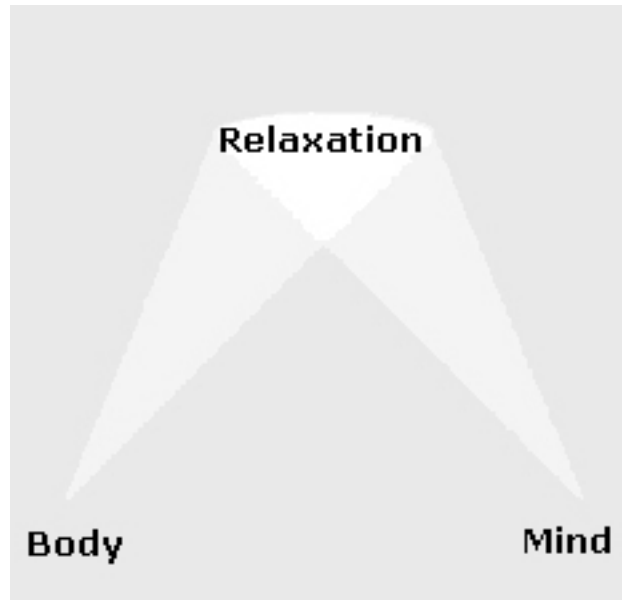

"We shall not cease from exploration And the end of all our exploring
Will be to arrive where we started And know the place for the first time." ~ T. S. Eliot, Little Gidding

This returning is simply one extreme of the branch of Love's journeying that is the reverse of the other extreme called leaving. It is facilitated by Relaxation as outlined in the next section. The current of journeying outward and returning to the beginning is the living process of understanding and applying these seven principles as you see that they are simultaneously what you are and what you have. The journey and return forms octaves composed of the current of these seven living principles (they are linked - like days-weeks that follow each other) as you explore the infinite-eternal current of Love.

Life is Relationship - Relationship is a Process. Just as breathing is a process that is composed of respiration and circulation (inspiration-expiration, etc.), Life is a Process that is composed of the Relationship of the two hemispheres of your brain, and the Relationship of your conscious and subconscious minds. You, me, others, and everything else are Together in Relationship (this is true even if you say that you are divided because whatever divides is also what you have in common – thus it also joins).

The Creation Vibration is from Mind Power - The Way of Water. Mind Power - The Way of Water shows you HOW your conscious thoughts and subconscious beliefs-feelings couple with their Sexual Partner to form One Integrated Reality and WHY harmoniously aligning your energies with the Laws of Living UniVerse is the means whereby you Create the Life You Want with Certainty! In fact you give the UniVerse No Choice other than to Happily Give You What You Want! Click here for Details.

8) Love has and is Relaxation octaves of the seven principles together

A sound body facilitates a sound mind. A sound mind facilitates a sound body.

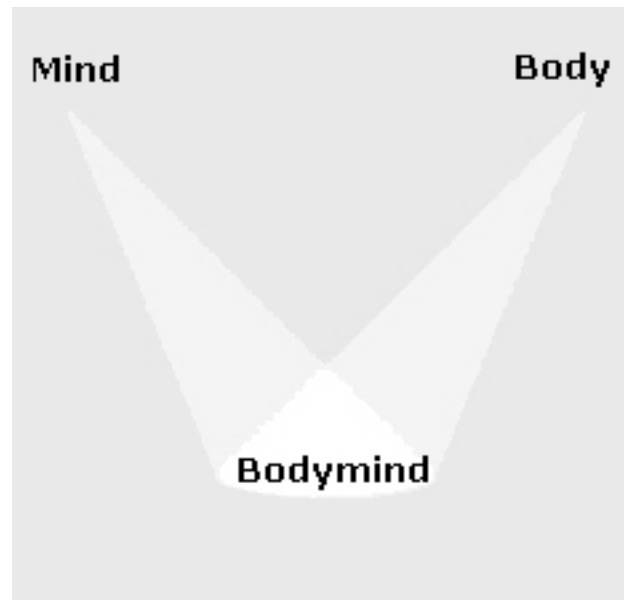

The sound that facilitates this is the sound of Silence.

When your body is collapsed there is the stress of compromised space such that your bodymind's circulation, respiration and energy flow is restricted. When your body is over stressed there is the compromise of excess tension that causes similar restrictions to circulation, respiration and energy. When your body is stretched and toned such that your circulation, respiration and energy are stimulated without straining there is a relaxed tension that is called robust health. In other words a sound body is one that is in accord with current of the wave flow of Love's infinite-eternal branching.

When your conscious mind is actively engaged in worry and anxiety there is the mental noise of compromised space such that your bodymind's circulation, respiration and energy flow is restricted. When your conscious mind is over stimulated through extreme activity, there is the compromise of excess tension that causes similar restrictions to circulation, respiration and energy flow. When your conscious mind is in accord with the current of the wave flow of Love's infinite-eternal branching it may still be active, yet its activity has no discord.

And when your body's accord and your mind's accord are harmoniously together as the whole called your bodymind, then the communion and communication of your bodymind is music, song and dance that is in accord with the dance of the uni-verse. Then you realize the ultimate benediction that there can be no dance without a dancer and that a dancer lives by dancing.

The dancer is the dance - The dance is the dancer

This realization is self-evident to anyone who has even been in Love because to be in Love is to be relaxed and nurtured by the Infinite-Eternal Being of Love. In Love there is the reality of you and your beloved, and simultaneously there is the transcendental togetherness of each of you in Love.

There is no way to Love there is only the way of Love.

The only way to be in Love is to be open to the way of Love and the opportunities of life such that you embrace all that you encounter. The wave flow of the One Substance of Love is governed by this octave set of seven natural, unalterable, linked principles. The practice of harmonizing with this current of Love is intention. The exploration of these seven principles and applying them in your life is attention. And the union of these two is the complete awareness of apperception such that the separation that is sustained by the focus of your localized energy attention relaxes. Thus the localized you dissolves, you are absorbed in the current of Love, and there is the presence of the essence of what you are, what you have always been, and what you infinitely and eternally always will be – that is Love.

Attain Spiritual and Material Success with Certainty

The Creation Vibration is from Mind Power - The Way of Water. Mind Power - The Way of Water shows you HOW your conscious thoughts and subconscious beliefs-feelings couple with their Sexual Partner to form One Integrated Reality and WHY harmoniously aligning your energies with the Laws of Living UniVerse is the means whereby you Create the Life You Want with Certainty! In fact you give the UniVerse No Choice other than to Happily Give You What You Want!

Click here for Details

Mind Power - The Way of Water

Click here, or anywhere on the photo of the book \(next page\) for Details

Your most significant relationship is the Relationship of The Inter-course of Your Mind with its Sexual Partner
Because this is the Ultimate Cause of Your Reality!

There cannot be a Dance without a Dancer.
There cannot be a Dancer without a Dance.

Mind Power

the Way of Water

*t h e Dancer
is the Dance*

*t h e
Dance
is the Dancer*

Relationship is the Substance of Life. The intercourse of the male and the female creates the Miracle of Life

James Traverse